

6:10 *Be Strong in the Lord

The Strength of His Might.

Origen: To be “strong in the Lord” is to be strengthened in word and wisdom and the contemplation of truth. All these qualities are encompassed in the titles applying to Christ. The greatest of these is the strength of his might, which is stronger than all human virtues combined. Moral corruption lacks power in his presence. This one virtue, being strong in the Lord, is inconceivably powerful. Those who are wise in these matters call it the strength of his might. It has some analogy with bodily might but far exceeds it. This strength is beautiful, as a strong body is beautiful. Epistle to the Ephesians.<sup>1</sup>

The Climax.

Chrysostom: This is the rhetoric Paul always employs when he is about to conclude his discourse. Did he not already indicate at the very beginning that every person’s house is a bit like a military camp? Now you see he has drawn up every regiment ready for battle. He is ready to arm them and lead them into the struggle. Homily on Ephesians 22.6.10.<sup>2</sup>

6:11 *The Whole Armor of God

The Devil’s Wiles.

Chrysostom: The enemy does not make war on us straightforwardly or openly but by his wiles. What are the devil’s wiles? They consist in trying to capture us by some shortcut and always by deceit.... The devil never openly lays temptation before us. He does not mention idolatry out loud. But by his stratagems he presents idolatrous choices to us, by persuasive words and by employing clever euphemisms. Homily on Ephesians 22.6.11.<sup>3</sup>

Christ Himself as the Armor of God.

Jerome: From what we read of the Lord our Savior throughout the Scriptures, it is manifestly clear that the whole armor of Christ is the Savior himself. It is he whom we are asked to “put on.” It is one and the same thing to say “Put on the whole armor of God” and “Put on the Lord Jesus Christ.” Our belt is truth and our breastplate is righteousness. The Savior is also called both “truth” and “righteousness.”<sup>4</sup> So no one can doubt that he himself is that very belt and breastplate. On this principle he is also to be understood as the “preparation of the gospel of peace.” He himself is the “shield of faith” and the “helmet of salvation.” He is the “sword of the Spirit,” because he is the Word of God, living and efficacious, the utterance of which is stronger than any helmet and sharp on both sides. <sup>5</sup> Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.11.6

6:12a Contending Against Principalities

It Is Not Flesh and Blood That Deceive.

Jerome: The battle is not against flesh and blood or ordinary temptations. The scene is the war of flesh against spirit. We are being incited to become entrapped in the works of the flesh. <sup>8</sup> ... But this is not merely a physical temptation. It is not merely the inward struggle against flesh and blood as such. Rather Satan has cleverly transformed himself into an angel of light. He is striving to persuade us to regard him as a messenger of goodness. This is how he throws his full might into the struggle. He employs deceptive signs and lying omens. He sets before us every possible ruse of evil. Then, when he has so ensnared us that we trust him, he says to us, “Thus says the Lord.” This is not flesh and blood deceiving us. It is not a typical human temptation. It is the work of principalities and powers, the ruler of darkness and spiritual wickedness. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.11.9

6:12b Against Powers and Rulers of This Present Darkness

Paul’s Unique Term: World Rulers of This Present Darkness.

Jerome: We have elsewhere read the expression world rulers nowhere in the Old or the New Testament—only here. Paul the apostle employs this name because it was necessary for him, in addressing the Ephesians, to apply new terms to new and invisible subjects. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.11.10

6:12c Spiritual Hosts of Wickedness in Heavenly Places

Hosts of Wickedness.

Origen: From what ancient Scripture is Paul drawing when he speaks of “the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places?” My conjecture is that it comes out of the narratives written in Israel about wars and particular combats, like those of David and Goliath, and about the battles of the children of Israel against their enemies.... In each of these narratives there is some implication of the vanquishing and overcoming of demonic spiritual powers. Epistle to the Ephesians.12

Iniquity in High Places.

Origen: Some spiritual creatures have sinned in heaven. It is against these that we now struggle, “against the spirits of iniquity in high places.” They first sinned in heaven. Now they are doing it again on earth. Palestinian Catena on Psalm 118.119.<sup>13</sup>

Whether Demons Could Reside in the Same Heaven with God.

Jerome: “Hosts of wickedness in heavenly places?” This does not mean that demons dwell in heaven but that the air above has received this name, as birds who fly through the air are called “fowls of heaven.”<sup>14</sup> ... It is indeed impious to suppose that the spirits of wickedness in the heavens occupy the same heaven of which God says, “It is my throne.”<sup>15</sup> Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.11.<sup>16</sup>

6:13 *Being Able to Stand

What Is Meant by “the Evil Day.”

Jerome: The “evil day” may arguably signify the present time.... But the better interpretation is that “to stand in the evil day” is a reference to the final consummation and judgment. Then the devil, our enemy and our adversary, will struggle to keep us in his clutches. Who will be freed from him? One who understands what is said of the poor and needy: “the Lord will deliver him in the evil day.”<sup>17</sup> ... Still another interpretation, however, expounds this more simply: The Ephesians are now being encouraged to prepare for future temptations and persecutions. Paul the apostle in his prophetic spirit saw them as coming at a later time. They are being counseled to do anything they can that might enable them to stand in the faith of the gospel and not to lapse under persecution. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.13.<sup>18</sup>

6:14a *Girding One’s Loins with Truth

Why Begin with the Girdle?

Chrysostom: The first art in tactics is to know how to stand firmly. From this firmness all else follows.... He is not speaking here of a literal girdle. He is setting in contrast, by this metaphor, the soldier who is slack and dissipated in his appetites, who lets his thoughts creep on the ground.... He speaks here of the loins. Just like the keel of a ship the loins are the central balancing support of our whole body. They are a kind of foundation. All is built up from them.... The girdle is used in combat to bind and hold together this foundation of ours. That is why we are also girdled when we run. It secures the strength within us. Homily on Ephesians 23.6.14.20

6:14b *Putting on the Breastplate of Righteousness

Righteousness Lives by Faith.

Marius Victorinus: Faith lives in righteousness. Faith remains the fountain of all the virtues, as Paul has often stated. Righteousness is not as strong as faith because “righteousness lives by faith.”<sup>21</sup> But the effect of righteousness is accomplished by faith. So in this battle we must strive toward righteousness. Faith is proven to be true faith when we live righteously. Then faith is seen to be useful to us, as the righteousness that accompanies faith is useful. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.13–14.22

Why Is It Called a Breastplate?

Jerome: One who has put on a sturdy breastplate is difficult to wound. Especially well-protected are those essential parts of the body upon which life depends. So put on the breastplate. Strap it together by iron rings and insert the hooks in their place. One protected by such a breastplate of righteousness will not be like a vulnerable stag that receives the arrow in his liver. He will not lapse into rage or lust. Rather he will be protected, having a clean heart, having God as the fashioner of his breastplate, since he fashions the whole armor for every one of the saints. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.14.23

6:15 *Shod with the Equipment of the Gospel of Peace

What Is the Significance of Feet?.

Marius Victorinus: The gospel is to be carried abroad. It is to be preached among the nations. Wherever, then, it is preached, it must be heard. But so that all may hear, one must use one’s feet to travel. And so do we travel with haste and urgency. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.15.24

Having Shod Your Feet with the Equipment of the Gospel of Peace.

Jerome: It is asked whether he says “the gospel of peace” to distinguish it from another gospel. Or is it rather the distinguishing property of the gospel that it may be called “the gospel of peace?” If anyone therefore has peace, he is shod with the gospel of Christ. With this footwear he is prepared to walk. Being prepared, however, he does well not to imagine himself already perfect. Rather he merely is prepared to press on and by pressing on hopes to arrive at the goal. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.15.<sup>25</sup>

Only by Battling the Demonic Do We Receive Peace with God.

Chrysostom: This war against the demonic puts an end to the previous war against God. As we are making war with the devil, we are making peace with God. Have no fear, beloved, the victory is already won. This is the good news. Homily on Ephesians 24.6.14–17.<sup>26</sup>

6:16 *Taking the Shield of Faith

The Capital Virtue.

Marius Victorinus: He returns to that capital virtue, the shield of faith. It contains all the other virtues and brings them all to fulfillment. Unless we are armed with this shield we will not have the strength to battle courageously and resist all these deadly powers. But with the protection of faith we repel all these blows and whatever attacks come from the whole host of powers. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.16.<sup>29</sup>

Quenching Fiery Darts.

Chrysostom: By “his darts” Paul means both temptations and perverse desires. He calls them fiery because that is the nature of the appetite. Faith is capable of commanding hosts of demons. How much more is faith capable of ordering the passions of the soul? Homily on Ephesians 24.6.14–17.<sup>31</sup>

6:17a *Taking the Helmet of Salvation

The Helmet Guards the Head.

Marius Victorinus: It is Christ indeed who is the author of salvation. He is our head. He descended to us and redeemed us by his own mystery. It is he indeed who guards the heads of the faithful. Therefore he is the “helmet of salvation.” He is the Word by which the adverse powers are overcome and taken captive.... Christ, who is the Word of God, was sent to overcome all corruption and wickedness and even death itself. It is in this sense that Paul refers to “the sword of the Spirit, the Word of God.” Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.17.<sup>32</sup>

The Helmet of Salvation.

Jerome: Because of this helmet of salvation all the senses in our head remain intact. It especially protects the eyes. Solomon in Ecclesiastes 33 notes that “the eyes of the wise are in the head.” Paul understood the importance of headship. He knew why the eyes are located in the head. If Christ is the head of a person of faith and “the eyes of the wise are in the head,” it follows that all our senses, mind, thought, speech and counsel (if, that is, we are wise) are in Christ. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.17.<sup>34</sup>

6:17b *Taking the Sword of the Spirit

The Sword of the Spirit.

John Cassian: This is the sword that for our health spills the noxious blood that animates the matter of our sins, cutting out and excising whatever it finds in our soul that is carnal or earthly and, once it has made us dead to vices, causing us to live to God and flourish in spiritual virtues. Conferences 20.8.11.<sup>35</sup>

6:18a *Pray at All Times

The Inner Man Is Praying in Spirit Even When Not Praying Aloud.

Marius Victorinus: This means that we should not say or utter particular words or recite them in our prayers as though they were premeditated or written down. We are to pray “in the spirit” and “at all times.” Let your deep affections enter into your praying. The inner spirit, that is, the inner man, is making his prayer with intense desire. He is praying all the time, so that even when he is not praying aloud he is still praying in the spirit. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.18.1

Distinguishing Prayer and Petition.

Marius Victorinus: When he says “through every prayer and petition,” I think he has this distinction in mind: It is a prayer when we speak the praises of God and recount his great works and when we give thanks and worship him. It is a petition when we pray to God either to pardon our sins or to offer his grace to us. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.18.2

Calling upon the King.

Chrysostom: See how clever this blessed author is. He has armed them with the utmost protection. So now what remains? Only to call on the king and urge him to extend his hand. Homily on Ephesians 24.6.18–20.4

6:18b *Making Supplication for the Saints

With All Perseverance.

Marius Victorinus: Some might think that the phrase at all times means only the daytime. But, so that he could amplify the force of “at all times,” what does he say? “With all perseverance.” This calls us to a certain persistent disposition of the mind. We do not pray as if we were asleep. This is what some sound like who pray by reciting or reading familiar phrases or uttering them routinely from memory. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.18.5

Supplication for All the Saints.

Marius Victorinus: The saints themselves, with the bishops and apostles and elders, are called to pray on behalf of the faithful and the catechumens and all the other members of the body. It is typical of Paul to make mention of the whole people of God in prayer. He also calls upon the whole people of God to pray on behalf of their leaders, bishops and saints, and then he adds: “Pray for me too.” Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.18–19.6

6:19a *Praying for Paul

Those Whom He Admonished He Now Asks for Prayers.

Marius Victorinus: Isn’t this wonderful? From those whom he himself has just now admonished, those whom he has instructed, to whom he has preached the gospel, he now asks for help. He is asking them for their prayers. He goes on to explain what he is asking them to pray for: “that utterance may be given to me.” His prayer is definite and specific, that a particular profit may accrue. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.18–19.8

6:19b Boldly Proclaiming the Mysteries of the Gospel

Only with Purity of Heart Is the Mouth Opened Boldly.

Origen: Boldness of speech is a possibility only and always for those who have a heart that does not condemn them 10 ... and therefore the one who boldly makes known the mysteries is rare, because those who have boldness before God are rare. Epistle to the Ephesians.11

Let the Treasuries Be Opened.

Jerome: This is to be understood as if he said, "Let the treasures be opened. Let the promises hidden from ages be revealed. Let the Spirit enter to bring forth those things that have been concealed." That this is indeed the meaning of this passage ... is clarified by what follows: "in confidence," he says, "to make known the mystery of the gospel." Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.20.12

6:20a An Ambassador in Chains

6:20b Asking for Boldness to Speak

Petition for Boldness.

Marius Victorinus: Boldly means "so that I may not fail to accomplish it fully and that my chains may not so work on my mind as to prevent my accomplishing it, the task of expounding the mystery, as I ought." Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.20.14

6:21a Making Known Who Paul is and What He is Doing

Why Tychicus Was Sent to Ephesus.

Jerome: This might be understood in two ways: Either Tychicus was sent to Ephesus to announce to them that Paul's chains had become famous in the whole praetorium and his imprisonment had been profitable to the faith of the gospel ... or Tychicus was sent to tell them more about Paul's life and daily work, of which they were not aware, so as to give them a clearer pattern of how to live. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.21–22.16

6:21b *Tychicus Will Tell Everything

Minister in the Lord.

Marius Victorinus: Note that Tychicus is described not as a minister to Paul but as a minister in the Lord with regard to the gospel and the mystery. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.21.<sup>18</sup>

6:22 *Sent for This Purpose

Sent for This Very Purpose.

Marius Victorinus: Tychicus is sent to give the Ephesians instructions not on his own accord. Rather he was sent by Paul for this purpose. Such was Paul's concern for them and his desire that they should be well informed. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.22.<sup>19</sup>

6:23 *Peace and Love with Faith

To Overcome Discord.

Marius Victorinus: The last part of the letter is a petition. His prayer and desire is for peace to the brethren, also love and then faith. For above he has already noted that there was discord among them. Now he adds thanks to those who display faith and who love our Lord Jesus Christ. Thus all is concluded with peace against discord, love eliciting concord and faith in God. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.23–24.<sup>20</sup>

With Faith.

Chrysostom: In saying "peace be to the brethren and love with faith," he speaks comprehensively. He does not speak simply of love as such or faith as such but love with faith. He means either this or that they are to have a faith that will make them confident about good things to come. The peace is toward God and so is the love. For where there is peace there also will be love. This love is always "with faith," for there is no good in love without faith. Love cannot even exist without faith. Homily on Ephesians 24.6.23.<sup>22</sup>

How Peace Encourages Faithful Love.

Jerome: There are many gifts bestowed by God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ, but of all these peace has a crucial place. This peace passes all understanding. It preserves the body and mind of the saints. It is a certain serenity and tranquility of a mind at rest. It is protected from the universal storm and maelstrom of perturbations. So also is “love with faith,” which at the same time is given to us by God the Father and the Holy Spirit, so that we may love God from the whole heart and our neighbor as ourselves. Epistle to the Ephesians 3.6.23.23

6:24 *Grace Be with All Who Love Our Lord Jesus Christ

With Love Undying.

Marius Victorinus: He adds “with love undying,” or in imperishability. For his prayers are not only for the present life but for the coming one as well, which is contained in the hope and promise of Christ. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.6.23–24.24
